

Chinese consumer spending on health care will continue its high growth

An official from the Economic Research Institute of the National Development and Reform Commission (国家发展和改革委员会经济研究所) during a press interview stated that health care consumption will continue to enjoy growth that exceeds the growth momentum of Chinese people's average spending in the coming years.

Reforms on state employee income allocation policy, increases in minimum wages for city workers and reforms on civil servants assignment policies are believed to be factors that would increase overall consumption power of Chinese people. Along with the country's ongoing reforms on the medical and health systems, spending in health care would likely to grow beyond the growth rate of average consumption spending.

Twelve more Shineway products are now packaged in Uighur language

In addition to Qing Kai Ling Injection and Wu Fu Xin Nao Qing Soft Capsule, China Shineway now packages twelve more products in Uighur language (维吾尔文). The package and user guide of each product will have both simplified Chinese and Uighur language to cater the needs for the Xinjiang (新疆) market.
