

Shineway signed memorandum of understanding on cooperation with Australian research institute

To promote modernization and internationalization of Chinese medicine, China Shineway signed a memorandum of understanding (“MOU”) on 22 September 2008 with the Centre for Complementary Medicine Research of University of Western Sydney and the Experimental and Research Centre of Xiyuan Hospital of the China Academy of Chinese Medicine Sciences to cooperate on research of Chinese medicine.

The MOU embodies for a potential research program to be administered by the signing parties on the development of herbal medicine products which may possibly be registered with the Australian Therapeutic Goods Administration.

Shineway received medal from Red Cross of China

The Red Cross Society of China recently honored China Shineway with its “China Red Cross Medal” for our contribution in the relief of Wenchuan earthquake disaster and our records in charitable donations and corporate social responsibilities.

China Shineway provided financial assistance and free medicines promptly after the Wenchuan earthquake. According to the Red Cross, China Shineway was the first medicine company making charitable donation and the first Hebei based company making such contribution.
